Learning begins with connection

Teaching, communicating and coaching can bring us closer to our communities, our families and ourselves. Through shared stories, study and real-life examples, Shweta invites people to learn with curiosity and compassion.

English for life and work

Build confidence in business English and practise everyday communication with empathy.

Career guidance

Make space for questions about a career change and explore the next step through conversation.

Stories, roots and belonging

Connect with family and community through teaching and storytelling, drawing inspiration from travel, Indian roots and the Bhagavad Gita.

Compassion through change

A gentle space for reflection on life choices, loss and change, with care for our own experience and the experiences of others.
